Dear Parents/Carers,

The Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) is the national curriculum that shapes our practice, education and care. As part of the requirements we provide each child and family with a key worker. The purpose of a key worker is to build a mutual relationship in which we can work together to enhance your child's experiences with us. By working together and sharing information we can provide learning opportunities that develop your child's interests and help them to learn, enjoy and achieve. Each term your key worker will work with you to plan and create opportunities to develop their interests and learning. We thoroughly believe that the key worker system is a partnership, therefore we feel it is important you know about your key worker as well.

Your key worker is: Jess

Hello I am your child's key worker. I am currently studying for my level 3 early years practitioner qualification. I enjoy working with young children and love seeing them grow through play. I like to provide sensory play where they can express themselves through language and using their senses. I have two children aged 4 and 8. I am looking forward to being your Childs key worker and supporting them through their learning and development here at abacus.

Yours sincerely
Jess
